Leaders Pledge to Upbuild Industrial Georgia

TO ENLARGE TECH AS VITAL FACTOR IN STATE FUTURE

Splendid Attendance of Georgia Business Men at Macon Plans Manufacturing Growth.

W. C. VEREEN PRESIDES AT IMPORTANT MEET

Development of Tech as Greatest Asset of Industrial Georgia Advocated by Business Experts.

BY JAMES A. HOLLOMON. Special Staff Correspondent for The Constitution.

Macon, Ga., March 15 .- (Special.) More than three hundred of the leading captains of industry in Georgia, representing at first hand every branch of mining, manufacturing, engineering and research activity in the state, stood up as one interest this afternoon and unanimously pledged their co-operative endeavors to the immediate raising of $5,000,000 for the building, around the present Georgia School of Technology, in Atlanta, the largest and best equipped engineering and research institution in America. The is not as a philanthropic education promotion, but as an investment in assuring for Georgia a new era in the industrial development of her wonderful resources, acclaimed to be second to those of no other state in the union. Today's pledge thus marks a new

For the first time in the history of the state the managing representatives of the va rious manufacturing, mining and milling interests struck a common trail and joined hands in a co-operative movement that extends in its potentialities far beyond Tech or any other one institution which will in the end become only an essen tial instrument in a state's industrial progress.

Enthusiastic Sessions.

The Georgia industries convention which met in Macon today developed into a working, throbbing organism to put the state's count-less raw products, including the agricultural and mineral resources into finished products before the consumers of the world. Behind it all was begun a force that will stop at nothing but tangible re-sults in not only challenging the present depressed conditions of the country, but in providing remedies Continued on Page 9, Column 3,

The statement of the receiver in regard to the interstate commerce commission follows the action of the union employees in making an appeal to that body, news of which was carried in The Constitution of Tuesday morning. The men charged that the road is not being economically operated, and that much valuable material is rapidly deteriorating in value.

Ardmore, Okla., March 15 .- The ten-year love affair of Jake L. Hamon, millionaire politician, and Clara Smith Hamon, on trial charged with his murder, was recited in graphic detail here Tuesday when the young defendant took the stand. It was a day of thrills in the little court room, ranging from a panic which threw the court into an uproar when the prosecution charged that "the whole Smith family lived off the defendant's relations with Hamon" to the dramatic hush that fell over the room when Clara Smith told how she shot her loyer, whom, she said, she "loved and hated at the same time."

DEATH RIDE STORY PROBED BY BOYKIN

Contradictory Statements Made by Men in Murder Case-Ku Klux Deny Connection With Case.

Contradictory statements made by the men who admitted that they were in the death car that took Fred G. Thompson on the fatal ride, which terminated near Lakewood Fri day night when Thompson was cut to death by J. C. Thomas, will be investigated by Solicitor John A. Boykin, in view of the fact that there were no new developments in the investigation Tuesday. At the same time Captain W. S. Coburn, attorney for Homer Pitts, driver of the car, for Edwin N. Shute, passenger in the Pitts' car, and for H. J. Norton, who with Pitts and Shute, is held as a material witness, denied Tuesday that there is any significance in the fact that he is counsel for the Ku Klux Klan, a secret organization.

Colonel W. J. Simmons, head of the order, was out of town Tuesday, but his representatives stated that the rumor which became current after Captain Coburn was retained as counsel by the three material witnesses, to the effect that the men were members of the Ku Klux Klan, was without basis.

"The Klan absolutely and utterly denies any rumors which might have arisen without foundation charging the slightest sort of connection with the tragedy."

Captain Coburn made the following statement:

"You can say for me first of all. Statement by Klan.

Captain Coburn made the following statement:

"You can say for me, first of all that neither Mr. Pitts nor Mr. Shute are members of the Ku Klux Klan. I do not know as to Mr. Norton. That is an absolute fact. It is a fact that I do represent the Ku Klux Klan. I also represent several labor unions and several other fraternal orders. There is no more ground for connecting the Ku Klux Klan with this case because I represent the Klan than there is for connecting others of my clients."

POLICE ARE LOOKING FOR AGED WHITE MAN

Dan Robinson, a white man about 65 years old, left Stephens, Washington, a few weeks ago for Atlanta, where he expected to join a sister-in-law, Mrs. Edwards, of this city. En route he is said to have suffered a stroke of paralysis that necessitated his being removed to a hospital. It has been learned that he was discharged from the hospital and he is supposed to have continued his trip to Atlanta, but relatives state that no word has been received of him.

Robinson is said to be crippled in the left leg, and still suffering from the stroke of paralysis. Police of the city have been requested to assist in finding him.

Roads Not to Accept Cuts-Will Carry Fight Before Board.

New York, March 15 .- Railroad workers in the east have decided to reject all proposals of wage reductions and carry their fight to the railroad labor board, if the cuts are put into effect.

Representatives of the workers Representatives of the workers who have been holding conferences here it was definitely learned tonight, have decided upon this course, taking the position that the present wage standard must be maintained and economic conditions will not permit any reduction.

There is little danger of any cessation of work should the railroads put the reductions in force, union officials said, as the employees will appeal to the railroad labor board at Chicago and abide by its decision. The railroad managements, it is understood, will also obey the board's edict.

it is understood, will also oney the board's edict.

The position of the workers was officially made clear today, when representatives of the unskilled men notified the management of the New York Central railroad that they flatly refused to consider proposed wage cuts of from 17½ to 21 per ceng. "as we find that those employees today are not receiving sufficient income to maintain their families properly."

families properly."

Big Four Aloof.

Representatives of the skilled workers of the New York Central with the exception of those in the "Big Four Brotherhoods," it was learned, have also decided to reject proposed wage cuts. Altogether, approximately 70,000 employees of the Central lines have decided to oppose any reduction.

After receiving proposals for wage reductions for unskilled labor ranging from 7 to 13½ cents per hour, effective April 16, from the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, labor representatives in conference here, it was learned, practically decided to reject this offer. They will make their final answer at another conference called for March 23.

Unlon leaders declared tonight for March 23.

Union leaders declared tonight that if the New York Central put the proposed decreases into effect April 1, without first getting permission from the labor board, it would be a violation of the transportation act. Railroad officials said that board would be requested immediately to authorize the reductions.

Labor representatives declined to join with the New York Central in a joint petition asking the labor board to adjust the wage question, because at present they have no grievance against the company, said Anthony Spair, general chairman in this district of the United Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Employees and Railroad Shop Laborers. "We believe it is up to the company to go to the board." he added. "Of course, if it does not and puts its proposed cuts into effect, we shall appeal to the board for our own protection. "The railroad workers are going to obey the transportation act to the letter. There will be no trouble if the railroad managements do likewise."

New Orleans, March 15.—Strawberry growers of Tangipahoa parish lost $1,500,000 by washouts along the Illinois Central railroad in Mississippi resulting from heavy rains Sunday night, according to estimates received here today from the Co-operative Strawberry Growers' association at Amite, La.

Fifty per cent of the berry crop, an unusually heavy one, will be lost, it was stated because of the inability of the railroad to handle shipments to northern markets of ripe and ripening berries. Sixty carloads, ready for shipment early Monday morning, were lost with the exception of a small quantity rushed to New Orleans.

In addition the Amite river, in the heart of the berry growing section, is out of its banks and has flooded considerable territory driving fifty small truck growers from their homes and destroying their crops.

How Teeth Show!

White or dingy-how conspicuous they are Remove the cloudy film

There is a way to keep teeth whiter, cleaner, safer. Millions now employ it. The glistening teeth you see everywhere now largely result from this method. This is to explain that method. To tell you why authorities advise it. Then to offer you a ten-day test and urge that you accept it.

The film discolors

Your teeth are coated with a viscous film. You can feel it with your tongue. It is ever-present, ever-forming. It clings to teeth, enters crevices and

The ordinary tooth paste does not end that film. The tooth brush, used in old ways, leaves much of it intact. So very few have escaped the damage which that film creates.

That film-coat absorbs stains, making the teeth look dingy. Countless facial attractions are marred in that way. Combat that film for a little while and see how your teeth improve.

How teeth are ruined

That film is now known as the cause of most tooth troubles. It is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. Also of many other troubles, local and internal.

Despite the tooth brush, these troubles have been constantly increasing. Some have become alarming in extent. So dental science has for years been seeking ways to combat that film.

Two effective methods

Two effective methods have been found. Many careful tests have proved them. They have been combined in a dentifrice called Pepsodent.

Millions of people who have tried it now employ it daily. Leading dentists everywhere advise its use. In almost every circle, glistening teeth show its visible results.

Every home is welcome to a ten-day test. Make it and watch the effects.

Other desired results

Pepsodent brings other effects which authorities desire. It multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is Nature's agent for digesting starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's factor for neutralizing acids which cause tooth decay.

These results come from every application. They last for some time. And they give Nature much-needed aid in combating the possible effect of modern starchy diet on teeth.

Tooth pastes based on soap and chalk have the opposite effect. Modern au-ready drawn more than $332,000 of the present fund, while regulations have already been filed in the executive department for the remainder. 1,200 Miles Under Way.

More than twelve hundred miles are now under construction in Georria and will be completed curing the year, according to highway ofnicials, and the department is gradually promoting a policy to give the state a system of roads that will connect every county. With this program of construction well under way, it is believed the entire motor vehicle fund will be consumed this year.

Approximately two million dollars were added to the state treasury in 1920 through the operation of the automobile tax law, but, owing to financial conditions this year. Secretary McLendon stated that collections would fail short of this fund by 20 per cent. The secretary of state has no authority to deposit money anywhere except in the treasury. It is, therefore, impossible for him to distribute the automobile fund among state banks.

"I have handled, up to the present time." said Mr. McLendon, "about 75,000 checks drawn on nearly every one of the 700 Georgia banks. I am compelled to collect these checks through Atlanta banks, which act as collecting agents and not deposited by law to charge for their services, they are waiving this privilege."

He was born on March 16, 1835, in Frederickburg, Va., and when a boy moved with his parents to Nashville, Tenn. In 1879 he came Nashville, Tenn. In 1879 he came to Atlanta and soon established himself as one of the most talented architects in the city. Every year since coming to Atlanta he has celebrated February 5, the day when he first arrived in this city. The rapid growth of Atlanta gave him great opportunity to exercise his profession, and for 30 years his firm of Bruce & Morgan conducted a large business throughout the south. Among the buildings which he designed are many courthouses and educational institutions, including Georgia Tech. Clemson college, and the Alabama Technological school at Auburn, Ala.

Mr. Bruce will celebrate his 86th birthday quietly at his home today. His entire family will gather to observe the anniversary.

STATE LEGIONNAIRES INDORSE MEETING

All-American Mass Meeting in New York, March 18, Is Approved.

The American Legion of Georgia has sent its greetings and its indorsement of the great all-American mass meeting to be held under the leadership of the Legion at Madison Square Garden, New York, on March 18, as the answer and a national demonstrtion against the revival of German propaganda activities in the United States, it was announced today by J. G. C. Bloodworth, Jr., state adjutant of the legion.

Mr. F. W. Galbraith, Jr., national commander of the Legion, has been placed in charge of arrangements for the meeting by a committee representing fifty patriotic, civic, frances commander of the Legion, has been placed in charge of arrangements for the meeting by a committee representing fifty patriotic, civic, fraternal, professional and labor organizations. Mr. Galbraith has sent word to Mr. Bloodworth that the meeting will be the "mightlest patriotic demonstration America has witnessed since the armistice." Telegrams will be read from every state in the union. On behalf of the ex-service men of Georgia, A. L. Henson, state commander of the legion, has wired Mr. Galbraith as follows:

"Executive Committee, Georgia Department, indorses unqualifiedly your national campaign against German propaganda. Georgia legiofinaires will support you to last ounce of strength. Call on us for anything."

In his response to the Georgia greetings Mr. Galbraith asserted that he was being deluged with telegrams from all parts of the country. He writes:

"There has been nothing like it since the wave of patriotic ardorenveloped the nation following our declaration of war against Germany. It marks the spontaneous beginning of a great all-American counter-offensive against enemy propaganda which is sweeping America. It is the natural reaction from the national wave of resentment which swept the country in the wake of the exposure by the American Legion of the projected revival of German propagands efforts in this country, the insidious objects of which were to estrange the United States and those nations which were our comrades in arms in war, and the restoration to its place of former power and influence in our national affairs of the powerful pro-German political machine of which such good use in the imperial cause before we entered the war. The cards are on the table now. The disloyalists have stated their case and America has made its answer."

Woodmen to Hold Joint Meeting Here Next Friday Night

Woodcraft royalty will be present at a joint meeting of Atlanta Woodmen lodges Friday night in the hall of Atlanta camp, No. 430, on West Mitchell street. A number of Georgia, state officers will be guests of honor, and an invitation has been extended by the different lodges of this city to Sovereign Commander W. A. Frazier, of Omaha, Neb., the national head of the Woodmen.

The meeting follows a spirited session of local camps on March 3, and is preparatory to the annual Woodcraft convention to be held at Valdosta on March 24, 25 and 27. The convention is expected to draw around 20,000 delegates, and a strong delegation of Atlanta Woodmen already has been appointed by the different camps of this city.

in Atlanta next Monday for a session that has aroused widespread interest in the candy field. Steps toward an organization of candy interests of the south are expected to develop at the meeting, which is receiving the spirited support of leading firms of the southeastern and South Atlantic states.

The program provides for a one-day session, but arrangements have been made for an extra day if additional time is needed to work out plans for the organization. The meeting will open in the Colonial room of Hotel Piedmont at 10 o'clock Monday morning, and Mayor Key's address of welcome will be followed by speeches from leading confectioners of the south. Walter C. Hughes, Chicago, secretary of the National Confectioners' association, is expected to deliver the principal speech.

The meeting is the outgrowth of a movement in this direction started a few weeks ago by "Sweets." a confectionery journal published in this city by Walter W. Brown. In co-operation with other confectionery interests, the local journal has laid plans for a representative attendance. Down in Calhoun county, some of the people recently started a movement to move the county seat from Morgan to Edison. So last week an election was held and the Edison lets lost.

But, having lost, the friends of the removal ticket have protested that the election was illegal, owing to the conduct of some of the managers. They have filed a petition to this effect with Secretary of State S. FIFTH WARD STIRRED OVER MASS MEETING

Citizens Will Meet Thursday to Discuss "Election" of J. W. Maddox.

Fifth ward citizens who called at the city hall Tuesday brought word that the mass meeting planned for Thursday night at the English Avenue school; to discuss the situation arising out of the swearing in of J. W. Maddox as a police commissioner, after having been elected through an error in the count at the last council meeting, will be one of the hottest in the fifth's history. It was learned Tuesday that Maddox, who has announced that he will resign, has written a letter to Elliott Barrett, his opponent, who tied him in the council race, but was counted out of two votes through a mistake, proposing to eliminate himself as a candiate if Barrett agrees to come out of the race. Mr. Barrett had not replied to the letter Tuesday night.

Since Saturday, the Atlanta chemist has completed a full analysis of the viscera and will be able to render a final report at the hearing. Among the other witnesses will be several negro women, members of the coroner's jury, which ordered the defendants held for trial, and Jim Huff, father of Mrs. Williams.

Huff has placed the cause of the alleged murder on Campbell and before the commitment trial Saturday he told The Constitution correspondent of the details of the night several weeks ago when Mrs. Wil-

Memoirs of Russian Statesman Tell How William of Germany Tricked Him on Treaty.

Ne wYork, March 15.—The former German emperor's proposal for a league of nations, described in his book written with the object of showing that Great Britain was responsible for the world war, excerpts of which have been cabled from The Hague, is definitely hallenged and contradicted in the memoirs of Count Witte, the noted Russian statesman. The former German emperor asserts that he proposed a league of nations consisting of the triple alliance and the French and Russian alliance, and that this proposal was accepted by the Russian emperor and Count Witte.

Witte.

After detailing in an earlier chapter a proposal of the German emperor for an offensive economic alliance between Russia and Germany against the United States. Count Witte refers to his so-called league of nations proposal.

In 1905 Count Witte saw the German ruler on his way to Russia fter negotiating the treaty of Portsmouth, and their talk assumed a serious aspect.

man ruler on his way to Russia ofter negotiating the treaty of Portsmouth, and their talk assumed a serious aspect.

"Having referred briefly to my success at Portsmouth," says Witte. The turned to the general political situation in Europe, and reverted to our Peterhof conversation. I reliterated my profound belief in the desirability of a general reapproachment of the three main bodies politic of Europe—Russia. Germany and France—this reapproachment tending to become a close union, which, of course, would be joined by other European powers. Delivered from burden of military expenditure. Europe would be enabled to create a mighty naval force, which would dominate the world. His majesty assured me that he shared by views, and then declared that my scheme had finally been carried into effect at his meeting with Emperor Nicholas at Biorkoe. Having imparted to me this extraordinary plece of news, his majesty asked me whether I was satisfied with this develonment, and, in my innocence. I renlied that his words had filled my heart with joy. We parted."

Upon his arrival in St. Petersburg (Petrograd) Count Witte had an interview with Emperor Nicholas. "His majesty told me." writes the count. "that he had received a letter from Emperor William, in which the German emperor spoke of me in admiring terms. He was glad, he added, that I "shared the views which were the foundation of his agreement with Germany, concluded at Bjorkoe. The text of this mysterious agreement, however, his majesty did not show me.

"The next day I met Count Lamsdorff, our minister of foreign affairs. After the customary greetings and congratulations, he asked me, his voice vibrant with !!"controlled indignation:

"Do you really approve of the Bjorkoe compact?"

"I replied in the affirmative and proceeded to unfold my views on the desirability of an entente between Russia, Germany and France, when he interrupted me, saying:

"But have you read the Bjorkoe treaty" when he interrupted me, saying:

"'But have you read the Bjorkoe "I confessed that I had not, whereupon he handed me the text of the document, saying that he had received it only on the previous day and bidding me read it. The count looked profoundly excited and count looked profoundly excited and upset. As I read the document, I understood the cause of his excitement. The substance of the agreement was that Germany and Russia obligated themselves to defend each other in case of war with any other European power (including France). Russia pledged itself to make every effort to gain France over to this union, but whether this result was attained, the agreement between the two countries was, nevertheless, valid.

"This is monstrous." I exclaimed.
"The treaty dishonors us in the eyes France. It is possible that all this has been concosted without you and that you knew nothing about it?"
"Count Lamsdorff repeated that. until the preceding day, he had been kept in complete ignorance of the matter.
"Does not his majesty know that we have a treaty with France?

we have a treaty with France? I asked.

"Of course his majesty knows that, he renlied, but the fact must have slipped from his mind, or, what is more probable, his brain was befogged by William's verblage and he failed to grasp the substance of the matter.

"We put our heads together to find a way out of the difficulty."

It was through the influence of Count Witte and Count Lamsdorff that the treaty was eventually abrogated.

BENSON CONFERS WITH PRESIDENT AT WHITE HOUSE

Washington, March 15.—Rear Admiral Benson, chairman of the shipping board, had a long conference today with President Harding. He declined to say what was discussed and there was no statement from the white house. It was understood, however, that the admiral was authorized to continue to direct the affairs of the board until a successor has been named and he has qualified.

There was increasing evidence today of the difficulty Mr. Harding is having in inducing the men he wants to accept appointment to the board and some of those in touch with the situation believe it will be some weeks, at least, before a complete new board is named.

Movement for Perpetual Memorial of Ex-President Begun at Meeting.

New York, March 15.—A move-ment was launched here today to establish a perpetual memorial in honor of Woodrow Wilson—"the honor of Woodrow Wilson—"the man who projected into the world the idea of the league of nations."

After listening to a eulogy of the former president by John Drink-water, English playwright, some 500 men and women voted unanimously to appoint a temporary committee to work out details of the memorial. Franklin D. Roosevelt, democratic vice presidential candidate in the last election, who presided at the gathering, was appointed chairman of the committee, with Henry Morgenthau, former ambassador to Turkey, treasurer.

Although the form the memorial is to take was not definitely decided upon, it was suggested that a minimum sum of $500,000 be raised as a trust fund, the proceeds from which shall be awarded each year toward international amity.

Mr. Drinkwater's address was frequently interrupted by applause, particularly when he declared that Mr. Wilson "conceived beyond his executive capacity—a thing that is generally true of all great historical figures."

"Most men," said the speaker, "are orone to bow in submission at the first assault of expediency. It is the tragedy and the glory of Woodrow Wilson that he clung tenaciously to his ideal regardless of personal consequences."

"It is generally agreed." he continued, "that his tactics were by no mans perfect. But the strategy back of them made one of the greater' contributions to modern civilization."

Mr. and Mrs. George Anslem Dewald have issued invitations to the marriage of their daughter, Hettie Hirsch, to Lawrence Kaufmann, of Detroit, on Tuesday, March 28, at 3:30 o'clock, at the Standard club, Atlanta, Georgia.

A reception and dance will follow the ceremony.

A number of entertainments are being given in honor of the popular bride-elect.

On Sunday evening the Misses Rosenberger entertained, and a kitchen shower was an incident.

The bride's business associates, the office force of Hormel and Co., and other affairs are planned.

Mr. Kaufmann and his bride will go to Nevada on their wedding trip and then by boat to New York. They will make their home in Detroit.

Honoring Bride-Elect.

A lovely event of recent date was the kitchen shower given in honor of Miss Hettie Dewald, a bride-elect of this month, by the Misses Rosenberger, at their home on Highland avenue.

Among those present were: Misses Minnie and Hettie Dewald, Rebekah Meyerhardt, Edith Weil. Alice Felibelman, Elsa Stahl, Hortense Kaufman, Laura, Carrye and Helene Rosenberger, Fred Haas, Louise Stahl, David Meyerhardt, Julian Loeb, Sidney Franklin, Jules Rosenberger and Beck Kaufmann.

Fourth Opera Concert Draws Large Audience.

The standard set by the first of the concerts founded on the operas to be presented in Atlanta by the Metropolitan Opera company in April, these concerts being presented every Tuesday morning at the Howard theater by the Howard orchestra and assisting artists under the direction of Enrico Leide, was excellently maintained in yesterday's concert. Puccini's "La Boheme," the opera. Another large audience was present and the Atlanta Woman's club, sponsoring the event, was the recipient of still more congratulations.

Mrs. W. C. Jarnigan, who has the very considerable task of interpreting the books of the operas, presented the story on which Puccini founded his music drama with a clarity of thought, a grace of manner, sweetness of voice which makes this feature one of the most valuable of the opera concerts.

Mr. Leide briefly sketched the character of the music, the nature of its construction and then orchestra and singers proceeded to an illustration of some of the most beautiful parts of the opera.

Mrs. W. O. Chears, soprano, and William C. Jones, tenor, gave telling exposition of Rudolph's narrative and Mimi's song, also in the first act. A voice new to the opera concerts was that of Miss Frances Woodberry, who gave a freshvoiced and suitably vivacious interpretation of Musetta's song.

The beautiful quartet in the third act, Edwin Sawtelle, at the organ, gave its full value in melody and brilliance, and the character of the work of the orchestra completed a high-class performance.

To mention last, the first and most impressive event of the morning, Mr. Leide conducted as an extra number a performance of "The Oberon" overture by Weber, which was well worth even a little truancy from office or household cares to hear it. The contrast was interesting between the early romanticism of Wagner's contemporary and his brilliantly painted scenes and incidents to the honeyed emotionalism of the Italian.

Miss Eva Male Willingham, a bride-elect, of this week, was honor guest at a bridge luncheon yesterday, at which Mrs. Hugh Trotti was hostess at her home in Decatur.

A wicker basket filled with pink sweet peas adorned the centr of the lace covered luncheon table. Silver candlesticks holding pink unshaded candles alternated with silver compotes, holding pink bon bons and mints.

Mrs. Trotti was gowned in orcaid colored taffeta combined with lace and toned ribbon. Miss Willingham wore green embroidered tulle over green metal cloth and her hat matched her gown.

The guests were E. M. Willingham, Miss Kirby Willingham, Mrs. T. J. Day, Mrs. C. B. Brannan, Mrs. T. J. Day, Mrs. C. B. Brannan, Mrs. Nix, Mrs. D. W. Stewart, Mrs. Dayis Hall, Mrs. James Cameron, Mrs. E. M. Lušk, Mrs. Earl Chandler, Mrs. Alfred Green, Miss Roberta Robson. Miss Sara Colcord, Miss Marie Colcord, Miss Ethel Aram, Mrs. R. C.

In high relief against the floral decorations were the valuable flags owned by the chapter which are of great historical value, as are the relies also owned by the chapter. This organization will complete in the near future their work, valuable to oncoming generations as well as those now living.

Mrs. William Lawson Peel, founder of the chapter, and first in the receiving line, with Mrs. George Lewis Pratt, regent, next in line. Assisting in the receiption of the guests were the ex-regents, Mrs. W. F. Dykes, Mrs. H. B. Scott, Mrs. J. A. Perdue, Mrs. Samuel Lumpkin and Mrs. Edgar Paulin. Miss Gladys Byrd and Miss Margaret Pratt served punch from bowls wreathed in spring flowers.

FOR COUNTY AND CITY. The suggestion that Fulton county unite its forces with those of Atlanta in the development of s great city-county high school system, expressed by The Constitution Tuesday morning, has received wide approval.

It is practically out of the question for Fulton county to provide school facilities commensuwith those that can be supplied by Atlanta.

But by a pooling of city and county educational interests in the matter of high school education we could develop a high school plant in · Atlanta, available for country as well as city children, superior to that which it would be possible for even the city to evolve unaided by the county.

This plan, put into operation, would not affect the county.school organization in the slightest degree, except that it would do away with a separate county high school in Atlanta.

The county's grade school system would remain as it is, under the exclusive management of the county schools department; but the co-ordinating of the county and the city high school plants would guarantee to the rural children of Fulton county that, upon their graduation from the grammar grades, they would be given better high school advantages than it to provide for them unaided by the city's superior and more elaborate facilities.

The country children of Fulton county would be provided with high school educational opportunities on a par with those enjoyed by the city boys and girls.

The bond issue as approved by the voters of Atlanta is designed to yield $4,000,000 for permanent improvements in the city's public school system, a large part of it to be expended in the development of our high school plant.

It is neither practicable nor possible for the county, containing as it does only about 50,000 inhabitants as compared with Atlanta's more than 200,000, to provide high those Atlanta is now in position to provide; and yet its rural boys and girls are entitled to as great educational advantages as are the boys and girls who live inside the city limits.

operating with the city in creating them.

The details involving the human equation in the proposed amalgamation — the division of managerial authority, etc.—and the equitable apportionment of the financial burden involved in the managerial authority, etc.—and the way that inevitably wins out in the life struggle. It takes more financial burden involved in the life struggle. It takes more than any war, with all its wounds, development and maintenance of to put a philosopher like that the proposed city-county high "out of business." For, in spite of school system, could be easily worked out.

Heartily approving the suggestion that such a merger of city and county high school activities be made, W. F. Dykes, city superintendent of schools, says in a communication to The Constitution:

"Editor Constitution: I'am thoroughly in accord with the proposition of The Constitution to admit to the city high schools all pupils liv Fulton county, also to extend to them the privileges of the Atlanta Normal school. the county commissioners would agree to spend a certain amount each year in paving the streets of Atlanta and the city council in return would agree to give the school department 30 per cent of its total income instead of 22 per cent as at present, the county pupils could be given city high school facilities without any extra

"The following courses as offered the Cincinnati high schools would meet the needs of both city and county children: General, classical, domestic science manual training, agricultural, art, commercial, music, boys' technical and girls' technical.

"W F DYKES

"Superintendent Atlanta Schools." Superintendent Dykes' recommendation that the city give to the school department 30 per cent of its total annual income is timely, and ought to be adopted.

According to the United States, bureau of education, of forty-seven American cities of approximately Atlanta's population, the average amount of current revenue given, by fixed appropriation, to public education is 35 per cent of municipal income.

Of these forty-seven cities, At lanta stands forty-sixth from the head of the list!

This city, as Superintendent Dykes states, gives to its schools only 22 per cent of its annual income, as compared, for example, with 36.5 per cent of municipal revenue going to the public schools of Birmingham, 33.9 per cent similarly expended by Richmond, and 32.4 by Nashville.

If the city of Atlanta would deal as liberally with its schools as other cities of its class are dealing with their respective educational systems, and then if, on top of that, the county would co-operate with the city in the develophigh school plant to the extent of vote to the installation and maintenance of a plant of its own, we could have here-available for every boy and every girl in the surpassed by those of any other city in the world!

As matters stand, any boy living in Fulton county, but outside of the city limits of Atlanta, who desires to attend the Tech, or the Commercial, or the Boys' High school, may do so only at the expense of tuition.

The same is true of any rural or suburban girl who wants high school opportunities beyond those supplied by the county; and it is impossible for the county, regardless of its resources, to maintain, in Atlanta or anywhere else, a separate high school comparable in efficiency with such a system as the county and city could maintain

If this sort of a plan is worked out, so that the county school authorities may devote the maximum of effort and resources at their command to the development of a top-notch rural grammar school system designed to merge into the proposed county-city high school system, the rural boys and girls of Fulton county, as well as those residing in the city, will be provided with free educational facilities equal to those afforded by any rural or metropolitan district in this country.

HEALTH TALKS BY WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

ANOTHER MISGUIDED MOTHER. Communication from one of my pupils:

My Dear Dr. Brady: I have read your health talks with I am a girl 14 years of age and in my first year at high school. Mama insists that I wear a corset all the time. This is one thing that I re-fuse to do. Am I right? I don't re-fuse to do most of the things mama fuse to do most of the things mamatells me to do, but in this case I

Late Saturday Night Shopping Is Declared "Crime Invitation"

The practice of delaying shop-ping until a late hour Saturday nights is an invitation to crime, according to Raymond V. police force cannot be held as the sole reason for the merchant's death.

The statement follows:

Many grocers are forced to keep their stores open until 11 and 12 o'clock on Saturday nights to wait on late shoppers, and this invites crime. If the grocers in some sections of the city attempt to close their stores earlier in the evening they lose a large part of the patronage of persons who imagine the grocers should remain open as iong as they want to buy.

Most of the grocers of Atlanta refuse to remain open later than 6 o'clock during the week days and 8 o'clock on Saturday nights. They find that their business holds up just the same, but at this particular time, when every dollar is important to a man's business, there are some who will remain open just as long as a customer will come into their store. These grocers force their competitors to remain open to hold their business.

A large number of people wait to do their Saturday shopping until after the big rush is over, and they are the ones who are responsible for the Saturday night robberies and murderers committed against the grocers.

Within the past three months there have Within the past three months there have been two murders and several holdups of grocery stores on Saturday nights and in every instance it has taken place at a late hour when most people were fast asleep. It is time something was done to retify conditions. Our police force may be insufficient to cope with this crime wave, but I do not believe we should "pass the buck" to them. The best method of stopping this crime is to close the stores earlier in the evening, about 9 o'clock.

This may seem an injustice to some merchants, but I believe a city ordinance should be passed, even if only temporary, requiring all stores to close their doors at 9 o'clock. The great majority of grocers are already closing their doors before that time and those who do not are only staying open because some competitor forces him to stay open.

A properly enforced regulation would give all of the retailers the few hours of leisure with their families to which they are entitled and would eliminate entirely the crime which late hours invite.

MRS. DAVISON IS FINED ON CONTEMPT CHARGE

Letters addressed to the members of the eastern tour and to others by the governor, inviting the reciplents to accompany the tour to 35 Georgia cities, have been mailed out, and set forth the advantage of the trip, as follows:

"To arouse all Georgia to the realization of the great prosperity that we can enjoy through developing our magnificent natural resources and increasing our industrial efficiency.

"To stimulate general business conditions in Georgia.

"To increase consumption in Georgia of Georgia products.

"To develop and increase acquaintanship among Georgia's leading men." Mrs. George N. Dr. A. T. Osbron Tells Kiwanians of Need of Intelligent Tests.

TO MEET TONIGHT

The Atlanta Druggist club will hold its third meeting at the Daffodil cafe tonight at 8 o'clock.

The club was organized three weeks ago with 30 retail druggists as members. At the meeting last woek a constitution and bylaws was adopted. T. C. Marshall was elected permanent chairman and committees to handle membership attendance and the program were appointed.

The program committee, consisting of A. R. Munn, R. M. McFarland and J. Q. McRae, has promised to present three practical subjects which are of daily interest to retail druggists.

The membership committee consisting of Chas. A. Smith, P. L. Provano, J. T. Selman and J. Q. McRae has been busily engaged visiting druggists who have not yet been affliated, and these committee members predict that the members ship of the club will double before their term of office expires in April.

LAKEWOOD PARK TO OPEN SEASON APRIL SIXTEENTH

Lakewood Park, Atlanta's only musement resort, which is owned and operated by the Southeastern Fair association, will open for the summer season on Saturday, April 16. Already the shows, rides and amusements devices out at Lakewood are beginning to brighten up and take on new life as the fresh paint is applied to the buildings and fixtures of the park.

The entire grounds are being cleaned up and put in first-class condition, and many improvements throughout the park are being made and everything will be in readiness for the crowds of opening day. Secretary R. M. Striplin has arranged for a program of speed events to thrill the visitors on opening day and some of the world's most daring dirt track drivers are

IS REORGANIZED

Prominent Railroad Men Join in Making Traffic Organization Asset to Growth of Atlanta.

The old Passenger Traffic club, which was in existence prior to government control of railroads, was reorganized with a membership of 144 Tuesday evening at an enthusiastic meeting held in the offices of the Southeastern Passenger association in the Healey building. The club was reorganized with a view of establishing closer working relations, and a spirit of good fellowship among the passenger department representatives of the railroads with offices in Atlanta. It was decided that the club would meet in business session once each month, at which time questions of interest to both the traveling public and railroads would be discussed. Social meetings will be held from time to time.

One of its objects is to keep in close touch with the public generally and assist in every way to build up Atlanta and the territory through which these men handle passenger service. It is interested in civic affairs, and believing that passenger men are in closer touch with all classes of populations they will be able to render valuable aid in many ways through this section of country, it is stated.

PHONE RATE PROTESTS WILL BE CONSIDERED

An important executive session of the state railroad commission will be held Thursday morning, when a large number of petitions asking for a rehearing of the Southern Bell Telephone company rate advance case will be considered and a decision reached.

have been received from the city governments of Atlanta, Tennille, Gainesville, Montezuma, Millen, Cordele, Eatonton, Forsyth, Barnesville and other cities. While the commission will reach a decision or the petitions tomorrow, it is not believed it will be announced until a long opinion has been written. This will probably be made public Saturday afternoon or Sunday morn-urday afternoon or Sunday morning.

In this connection, the property return of the Southern Bell to Comptroller General William A. Wright Tuesday is of interest. The statement shows that the company has outstanding common stock of $30,000,000; outstanding bonds of $16,310,375, and other debts of $8,023,091. The gross revenue of the corporation in 1920 was $13,503,807.40, with an operating expense of $11,327,130 and non-operating expenses of $4,-067; rent, $264,270; interest on bonds, $1,093,850, and miscellaneous expenditures of $11,098. A net income of $803,239 was earned, according to the statement. Gross revenue on Georgia busi-ness was $5,278,862, and the net inness was $5,278,862, and the net income before paying the pro rata interest of this state was $378,760, it was shown in the statement. The dissenting opinion of Commissioner John T. Boiffeuillet in the telephone case has been used in full in the fight being waged against increases in Mississippi, it was learned at the capitol Tuesday. The Seaboard Air Line railroad has filed petitions with the commission to discontinue telegraph stations at Huntington, Seville, Bellville and Ellabelle. April 12 has been set as the date for the hearing.

WORK ON SPRING STREET IS RUSHED

Plans for Great Viaduct Had Added Significance to Paving of This Thoroughfare.

Passage of bonds to build a great viaduct from Spring street to the Terminal station has added a new significance to the paving of Spring street, which is being carried on by the county.

Members of the Fulton county commission said Tuesday that they are pressing the project to the earliest completion possible, and that before or at least by the time the viaduct can be erected they have made of Spring street, from Marietta street, where it will be joined by the viaduct, to Peachure street, one of the most magnificent boulevards in the country.

Erection of the viaduct will dou hle the street's usefulness. It w also double the usefulness of the south side streets that will be trib; tary to it. A direct and unbroken crosstown thoroughfare, a traffic tery free from street care interference, will be created.

Plan of Commission. It is the definite plan of the county commission to finish the widenng, grading and repaving of Spring street as far as North avenue by the end of 1921. The city has in-stalled necessary surface connec-tions, except where the street is to be cut down or fills are to be made, and other preliminaries have been and other preliminaries have been met. It is just a question of progand other preliminaries have been met. It is just a question of progress now by the county forces. "We will pat ourselves on the back and say we have done a good year's work if we finish Spring street to North avenue by the end of this year," said Oscar Mills, a member of the public works committee, and the member of the commission charged with immediate direction of the job.

The forces on the work have already completed the street from Marietta street to Carnegie way and Carnegie way to Forsyth street will be finished within the next ten days. The paving laid down is as durable as paving can be made, it is declared. On a concrete base overlaid with a sand cushion, granite cubes, the interstices filled with finely crushed rock and poured with ly crushed rock and poured with tar, have been put down. From Carnegie way the thoroughfare will be paved with concrete eight inch-es thick.

Big Change Is Made.

Big Change is Made.

How much change has been wrought in the grade between Carnegie way and Marietta street is illustrated in the fact that, before the work on this portion started, a person crossing Spring at Marietta was invisible from Carnegie way. Now one can stand at Carnegie way and see the shoetops of a person crossing at this point.

Preparatory steps, between North avenue and Peachtree street, such as obtaining walvers and giving the proper notice for the installation of service connections, will not await completion of the portion the commission has assigned itself to finish this year, but when North avenue is reached every obstacle or hindrance against immediate continuation of the work the balance of the distance to Peachtree street, is expected to have been removed.

In his address Tuesday night, Mr. Marshall pleaded for a regeneration of the American people.

"The book of the rights of mankind, written by Anglo-Saxons for ten centuries, was closed by the war in Europe, and we must open the book of the duty of mankind," he said. "We are so obsessed with laws that we do not guse common sense. Marshall Talks to Lions

Talks to Lions
Restoration of an individualistic consciousness was urged by former Vice President Thomas R. Marshall in an informal speech at the weekly luncheon of the Lions' club Tuesday noon at the Ansley hotel.

"We have gone far recently toward getting men to work in the mass," he said. "The great problem today is to restore the individuality in American life, and make the individual realize what it means to be an American citizen.

"The southland is the hope of America today. Here are more nearly to be found the sons of the republic than anywhere else in America. On your shoulders rests not only the responsibility of determining whether the republic shall endure, but also the greater reponsibility of determining whether the republic shall endure, but also the greater reponsibility of determining whether the republic shall endured has the right to endure."

He also said I had been in Washington for the past eight years, but whether I was holding office there or passing through a long siege of sleeping sickness, is not for me to decide."

Mr. Marshall reached this city Tuesday noon, and went at once to the Piedmont hotel. He was greeted at the hotel by Governor-elect Thomas W. Hardwick. At the Terminal station, he was met by J. R. Sm. h, president of the Lions' club a brief interview, he expressed felief at being out of office, and advanced the opinion that all officials except supreme court judges, members of congress and technical experts, should be replaced by "new blood" at least once every eight years. He said the south had influence in the Wilson administration because the southern congressmen and senators were capable men and were re-elected often enough to acquire influence in Washington. He said he would withhold criticism of the new administration until he thought things were not progressing as they should.

PRESIDENT APPROVES RESTRICTED IMPORTS

Anti-Dumping Measure Designed to Keep Out Flood of Cheap Goods.

BY JOHN GLEISSNER.

United News Staff Correspondent. Washington, March 15 .- Presiden Harding has given his approval to the immediate passage of an antidumping measure by the special session of congress.

He also approved changing the existing tariff laws so duties will be collected on the value of goods in the American market, and not on their value in the country of their origin.

The president made this known to Senator Boies Penrose, of Pennsylvania, chairman of the finance committee of the upper chamber, and Representative Joseph W. Fordney, of Michigan, chairman of the house ways and means committee, when the immediate passage of an anti ways and means committee, when they called at the white house late Tuesday.

Penrose and Fordney acted under instructions from their committees, which had agreed in joint session that the project for an emergency tariff law should be abandoned, and the anti-dumping and changed valuation legislation should be enacted instead.

President Harding withheld decision on whether revenue legislation or tariff legislation should be enacted first by the special session. The reason for this, according to Penrose, is that the president wishes to take counsel with other members of the two committees, and with congressional leaders. The question has been in dispute, and it had been expected the two committee heads and the president would agree on a program to which the leaders could adhere, and which could be rushed through congress with a minimum of delay.

London, March 15.—Introducing the British army estimates in the house of commons Tuesday. Worthington Evans declared that on the first day of April, the total forces would comprise 207,000 men, and that this number would be further reduced next year to 170,000.

It was proposed to disband four cavalry regiments, he declared, but an expenditionary force of six divisions would be maintained. He said that the war office was developing a new and lighter tank for co-operating with the infantry, as well as a faster and more powerful tank which would be more effective than cavalry. Twelve companies of Armored cars, he told the nouse, would be increased to fourteen. London, March 15 .- Introducing

Want More Pay

For LESS Work

With the Buying Public on a strike to force down the high cost of Living, the Employing Printers are confronted with a strike to force up the Cost of Printing.

The demand of the Printing Unions that their work week be reduced from 48 to 44 hours per week on May 1, 1921, yet the pay to be the same, means-

MORE PAY -FOR-LESS WORK

With millions out of work today, factories closed, bread lines formed, it does seem that poor advice is being given Employees of Printing Plants when they are told to quit the good jobs and steady pay for 8 hours work a day, and join the increasing ranks of those "out of a job" where there is no pay, or at best, only a small "benefit".

We are opposed to the principle of a 44-hour week and are fighting this radical request.

A 44-hour week means less work and more pay, and the buyers of Printing pay. Help us win this fight.

Then it is possible that the ider Pole will be called on to serve bis, term as king of the wrestlers. Another year will possibly bring it back to Waldeck and the third year will find Caddock elevated to poyalty. Anyhow, there's a long car will find Caddock elevated to royalty. Danger Lurking In the Wild Woods.

Our ancient and appololike friend, he Hon. Daniel Boone, evidencly the Hon. Daniel Boone, evidently has not been authoriatively intermed that the war is over and that cotton is no longer selling at forty cents a pound.

Daniel, be it known, had added to the worries that have already less tstrang Nicklin, manager of the Lookouts by announcing that he would not report to Chattanooga, but would confine his athletic industry to managing a little team feack in the country where the grass grows high and a tier of planks on soap boxes are still called a grandstand.

Mr. Boone allows as how he can make more money pastiming in the slicks than he is offered by Mr. Nicklin and then he avers that with the independent club he can play cutfield and hit often—a pursuit which he enjoys—whereas in Chattanooga he would have to pitch, an occupation which doesn't appeal to hon apparently.

I last season with the farmers selling their cotton at practically an perice they desired, the sticks was golden territory for athletes. They deserted organized ball by the drove to reap this harvest. As a recuit the bosses of organized ball hecame peeved. They suspended the deserters and in many cases, the suspension have never been lifted.

Now Daniel probably hasn't realized that a whole lot of last has not been authoriatively in-the suspension have never been lifted.

Now Daniel probably hasn't realized that a whole lot of last ear's prosperity has departed from the sticks. He hasn't been told that whereas enthusiastic ball fans in the country were willing to dig one into their jeans breeches for the glory of their home town as corresented by the ball club last year, they are thinking a long time before spending a dime for a pluger brown mule tobacco, a vital necessity—this season.

The result is a lot of ball players who have decided to try the venture in the wilderness will probably be without jobs by July 4 and from the attitude of the mogulis right now, the "ineligible list" is going to mean something actually this season.

Romance of Indian Hasn't Disappeared.

We don't have to stray into ficcans" filmed to discover that the cans" filmed to discover that the indian still holds his grip on American imagination.

Baseball furnishes a striking example of the fact that the noble red skin has essential potentialities for exhibition purposes. Managers inst discovered this asset was back in the days of Sockalexis. This aborigine was a good ball player, but the press agenting he received made him as valuable to his cubit that time as Babe Ruth is to the Yanks today.

Jim Thorpe, never a ball player, has always drawn big salaries simply for his advertising value. For awhile every club tried to have an Indian athlete, but with the exception of Chief Bender. Zach Wheat and Chief Meyers, I don't recall an original American who really belonged in major league company.

Back in the old days, the Shreve-pert club in the Southern league, heasted an outfielder named Frank Korcum. He was swarthy complexioned and very fast. Some bug remarked that he looked like an Indian. The next time the remark was repeated Norcum was an Indian. The second time the story was repeated Norcum was an Indian. The second time the story was repeated Norcum was an Indian. The second time the story was repeated he became a full blooded Sioux and was the son of a chief.

It looks like a new member has an athlete named Blue Hawk, for whom athlete name Blue Hawk, for whom the many headed will lift the war cry. For it is as impossible for a baseball fan to fail to so greet an Indian as it is for one to cheer for an umpire.

first pennants for Atlanta, the Memphis club was led by Charile Babb, the "boy manager," who could finish second more consistently than any man who ever appeared as feader of a club in the Southern league with the possible exception of old Mique Finn.

Charlie kept the Chickasaws or the Memphis (as they were then known and nobody has ever fath med why the appelation was changed) consistently in the runner-up position for years, but though the cail was close at least twice, he could never quite bring in the Memphis outfit in front.

The Memphis directors finally got tired of finishing second and wanted first place or nothing. They changed managers and as a result they have generally obtained nothing.

Babb is now back in Memphis first pennants for Atlanta, the Mem-Babb is now back in Memphis -not with the Chickasaws, but as coach of the Christian Brothers college nine.

The Brothers Johnston.

Chattanooga and the neighboring down of Rossville are jusifiably proud of the brothers Johnston, who broke into the world series last year with Jimmy third basing for Brooklyn and Doc first basing for the champion Indians.

Cleveland is to play an exhibition game in Chattanooga and a big reception is being planned for the brothers on that day. It so happens that Jimmy will be in Atlanta with Brooklyn about that time and he will jump up to Lookoutville for the big celebration.

After the game there will be a banquet given by the Rosville Masonic lodge, with which the brothers are affiliated. The Tennessee towns are doing nothing amiss for no cleaner, better sportsmen ever graced the national game than this pair of tow headed Tennesseeans.

league regarding the decision of the official.

The above regulation put a great power in the hands of the official of the game, whether it is baseball, basketball or football, or any other form of sport. In other words, if two hot-headed players or spectators get into a scrap, the official of the game will determine the aggressive party, and the party that started the fight will be barred from participating in prep athletics for the rest of the season.

Statistics show that over half the free-for-alls have resulted from a fight started by two memoers of the playing teams. A fight of this kind decastly started during prep encounters on account of the tense feeling existing between different schools. With this resolution in effect, a player will think twice before he flies off the handle, and likewise will a spectator.

These fights have been cussed and discussed in the newspapers for weeks, but Monday night was the first time the officials have taken a definite step to quell such unpleasantness. Although only one resolution was adopted before the meeting adjourned at 12 o'clock, the officials feel sure that by the next meting some plans will be perfected by which prep games in the future will be made safe from fights.

BUSINESS HOUSE LOST IN BLAZE AT RENTZ

Dublin, Ga., March 15.—(Special.)—Fire destroyed one business house and damaged another, in Rentz, about 15 miles from Dublin last night. B. J. Giddens lost his stock of goods, and the frame store they were in was a complete loss. J. A. Davidson had his store and stock damaged by the flames from the Giddens store.

Both losses, partially covered by insurance, will amount to several thousand dollars. The Dublin fire department was appealed to for help to prevent the flames spreading to other buildings and one of the city's auto trucks was dispatched to the scene of the blaze.

BADOUD QUITS RING; GRIFFITHS MADE HIM

Paris, March 15.—Al Badoud, of Switzerland and Paris, who has held the title of welterweight champion of Europe since his victory over Johnny Basham in 1913, has announced his retirement from the ring. Badoud never quite recovered from the terrific lacing Johnny Griffiths gave him last year in Paris when the Akron (Ohia) boxer, during twenty rounds hit the European champion with every variety of blow known in the science of boxing, without being able to bring him down for the count.

FIVE DIE IN FLAMES WHEN PULLMAN BURNS

Pueblo. Colo., March 15.—Five persons were burned to death when a rear Pullamn car on the Denver and Rio Grande railroad caught fire early today between Pueblo and Walsenburg. The origin of the fire is undetermined.

Seven persons were asleep in the car when it caught fire. Two of them escaped by jumping from the windows and were slightly injured. The car was destroyed. The bodies were dragged out of the wreckage when the train came to a stop.

Two of the dead were identified as F. S. Steelman, traveling passenger agent of the railroad, and A. B. Jack, of La Jara, Colo., stock dealer.

The game will start at 7:30 sharp, and a large crowd is expected to witness the encounter.

BUSINESS HOUSE LOST

THIS UNDERRATED champ of Roughtown was a hoosy bum in comparison with my protege, Fail River Hopkins. Deep down in your Portland cement heart you know Gink was as helpless in his hands as a water bug in the Sahara. The night they met, Hop knocked Gink for a row of brightly painted baby carriages. The Roughtown eight-day wrist-watches had all run down before Gink came up smiling like a multin a thistle patch. Yours for a fight or frolic,

New Brunswick, New Jersey.

FALL RIVER HOPKINS was a good man. In Fall River. The first mistake he made was leaving the protecting shadow of the Fall River jail. He came into Roughtown on the Spasmodic and Jerky railroad. He took an awful beating from the Spasmodic and Jerky roadbed. This was the finest dynamite ballasted roadbed in the world. Each car on the Jerky only had two wheels on it. And both those wheels were on the same side. The passengers used to wear one toller skate while riding on the Jerky. They used to hang that boot out of the Tug-and-Pullman palace cars and skate along on one side.

THE JERKY was the famous road that was so rough they could only serve scrambled eggs in the dining car. They used to step out and put mustard plasters on the engine to make it jump across the drawbridges. There was only one rail the entire length of the track. That engineer on the Jerky would make Bird Millman look like a sick man in a wheelchair on the Atlantic City board walk. She was no wire pedestrian compared to the man who slept at the throttle of the Sr & J.

THE ROAD HAD no regular route. The tracks had to follow the train. Sometimes the junk caravan would stop inside the ticket offices of stations. Sometimes the engineer would stop in towns. Sometimes he would stop in the suburbs and let the town grow up around him. A STRANGE thing about this road was that it was all uphill.

LOTS OF RALIROADS under government ownership were uphill one way. But the Spasmodic and Jerky was uphill both ways. Scientists like Darwin, Huxley. Ed Curley, Mme. Curle, Mike Donaldson and Havelock Ellishave sprained their brains on this curlous and isolated problem. The S. & J. was uphill both coming and going. That was all there was to it.

EVEN EDGAR LUCIEN LARKIN, who knows twice as much as is necessary, admitted that his science was helpless on the Spasmodic and Jerky. This was the road that Fall River Hop picked out as his first Roughtown opponent. The roadbed was so rough that the fireman couldn't keep the coal in the furnace. He used to hold it in with his bare hands.

THE COMMUTATION tickets were made of sheet iron. The conductor's punch was a riveting machine. The berths had zoo bars on 'em. The engineer used to stop at every house on the route, lean out and kiss somebody good-by. Every trip was liable to be the one after his last. AN ANT GOT on the track five miles on the wrong side of Roughtown The engineer threw off the emergency brake and the train folded up like a magician's flower pot.

Bill Roper proposes to add to the spring football practice a series of talks given at regular intervals, and hits a good point when he urges especially that the line men attend these talks. There is a tendency among line men the country over to have an attack of "sleeping sickness" when rules and tactics are being discussed, and it was largely upon alertness that the Princeton line came into its own last year against the more powerful Harvard aggregation.

At Yale, the talks are likely to be more in the nature of conferences in New York among former players and coaches.

Steel stocks were slightly lower and the Tobacco stocks were irregular. The rails were inclined to rally slightly, and in many cases ended the day fractionally higher.

Money on call continued to be quoted at 7 per cent, with only a moderate demand. There was very little of importance in the foreign exchange markets. Little attention was paid to the statements that labor has refused to agree to a cut in wages announced by the New York Central. In some quarters it was said that this was to be expected, in the hope that the matter would receive more prompt action on the part of the railway labor board. In some stock market circles where the belief prevails that the market should do better, the opinion is expressed that the weakness in certain stocks, such as Atlantic, Gulf and a few like specialties outweighs as a speculative factor everything of a constructive character that is developing in the money situation here, in national policy in Washington, in the German negotiations abroad and in the plans for effective railroad relief. One stock market trader pointed out that without fear of being accused of hitting a fellow when he is down, one may fairly claim that the Atlantic Gulf stockholders have a just right to call on the management for a full statement of the case. "The management," he pointed out, "went into the oil game with, we may assume, determination to commit the company to the oil enterprise; but if it proposes to abandon the oil field it would seem at least it owes to the stockholders an explanation of its latest policy." It is as difficult to get any information from any of the officials or with the Atlantic Gulf as it is to break into the vaults of the large Wall street banking institutions. Many other corporations have adopted this close attitude, but have found that they did not get very far. What publicity means to a corporation can readily be seen in the number of friends the United States Steel corporation has won for itself, by being open and above board with its stockholders.

The January railroad earnings of 143 first-class roads representing 75 per cent of the country's mileage is not cheerful. The roads report deficit of $3,120,435 after rentals and taxes against net income of $42,751,000 in 1920, the decrease being 107.3 per cent. Gross revenue in the same period dropped 5.4 per cent; despite the large increase in freight rates. February is also expected to show up poorly.

The February figures covering cotton consumption in the United States substantiate the previous reports that there has been some improvement in the industry. The report shows that during the month there were consumed 395,563 as compared with 366,270 bales in January. As compared with February last year, however, the consumption shows a decided reduction, the total for 1920 having been 515,699 bales. Total consumption since August 1 was 2,729,417 bales against 3,655,010 bales in the corresponding period last year. Exports in February amounted to 493,425 bales against 606,002 a year ago, reflecting the reduced demand from other countries. Stocks in warehouses on March 1 were 3,497,019 bales against 3,530,654 last year. Not a bullish outlook for cotton.

The annual report of the Gulf States Steel company for 1926 shows net profits after charges and federal taxes of $751,220, which, after payment of the first and second preferred dividends was equal to $5.44 a share on the $11,138,150 of common capital stock issued. This compares with $279,421 earned in 1919, which was the equivalent of $1.20 a share. The report of the United States Cast Iron Pipe and Foundry company for last year makes a very much more favorable showing than in 1918. The surplus, after all expenses, charges and federal taxes for last year was $851,518, which was equal to 7 per cent on the $12,000,000 of preferred stock and 9 cents a share on the $12,000,000 of common stock. In 1919 the company reported a deficit of $503,703 after charges and expenses.

The report of the American Smelting and Refining company, which will be issued tomorrow, will show the dividend earned by about $12,000 margin for 1920. In 1919 there was a deficit of more than a

BANK CATECHISM

BY STUART H. PATTERSON

Comptroller, Guaranty Trust Company of New York Endorsed by the Educational Committee of the Georgia Bankers' Association

Q. Why did the federal reserve act change the method of issuing money?

A. Prior to the passage of this act, there were, generally speaking, two kinds of paper money in circulation—notes issued by the treasury of the United States secured by the treasury of the United States secured by the deposit of gold and silver and known as gold or silver certificates, and notes issued by national banks secured by certain United States government bonds. These forms of currency were not sufficiently elastic and were incapable of expansion and contraction to meet the fluctuating demands of business, partly because the amount of notes that could be issued by national banks was limited by the amount of the capital of the banks and only certain United States government of profit or loss entering into the issue of bank notes.

Q. How did the element of profit enter into the issuance of bank notes?

A. A national bank could issue notes only by the deposit of an equal amount of United States government bonds with the treasury department in Washington. For instance, a bank desiring to issue

Q. How did the element of profit enter into the issuance of bank notes?

A. A national bank could issuantee only by the deposit of an equal amount of United States government bonds with the freasury department in Washington. For instance, a bank desiring to issue $100,000 bank notes would purchase $100,000 bank notes would purchase $100,000 bank notes would purchase $100,000, as such bonds usually sold at a premium. It would deposit these bonds in Washington and receive $100,000 in bank notes with the bank's name engraved thereon, and it would have back $100,000 of the $105,000 it paid for the bonds. These bonds usually carried 2 per cent interest, which the bank would receive, or $2,000 per annum, against which it would have invested only $5,000.

On the other hand, it must get back out of the interest it received the $5,000 premium it had paid on the bonds; it must keep a redemption deposit with the treasury department in Washington equal to 5 per cent of the notes outstanding; it must pay a circulation tax on the amount of notes outstanding; it must pay a circulation tax on the amount of notes outstanding, and it was obliged to pay part of the expense of operating the redemption bureau in Washington. If money were in demand and interest rates were high and the bank did not pay too much premium for the bonds it purchased, then the issue of bank notes was profitable. But if there were not much demand for money, the bank notes would lie idle, in the bank vould, ave its money invested in government bonds were sold.

As the price of government bonds was a material factor in the determination of the profit in issuing or possibly sustain a loss if the bonds were sold.

As the price of government bonds was a material factor in the determination of the profit in issuing bank notes, and as the price of bonds would often decline when business was slack and currency pientiful and be high when business was active and currency in demand, it frequently produced an inverse elasticity at the times when business needed an increase of currency.

Q. How did the feneral reserve act change the issue of currency?

A. In addition to the gold and silver certificates, federal reserve notes can now be issued secured by 40 per cent in gold and 60 per cent in agricultural, industrial and commercial notes, drafts, bills of exchange or acceptances. These notes can also be secured by 100 per cent in gold.

Q. Why is this an improvement over the old method of issuing bank notes?

as a 40 per cent gold reserve is maintained.

EQUITABLE TRUST EXTENDS SERVICE OF LOCAL OFFICE

Extension of its service to individuals in addition to bond dealers and banks was announced yesterday by the Atlanta office of the Equitable Trust company of New York. Coincident with this change in policy, T. C. Trippe, well-known investment banker of Atlanta, succeeds James M. Rhett in the management of the local office.

Mr. Trippe is well known in investment and banking circles, having been identified in the banking and investment business in Atlanta since 1905, and has served in executive capacities continually since 1909.

He became associated with the Equitable Trust company in 1920,
The Equitable opened its Atlanta office in January, 1920, in the Trust Company of Georgia building, at No. 40 Edgewood avenue, maintaining direct private wire connections with the home office in New York, and confined their operations in the bond department strictly to the business of bond dealers and banks, handling no business in this department for individuals. The change in policy is that while the same service will be rendered bond dealers and banks as heretofore, the Equitable now welcomes the business of individuals.

off the extreme depression of the last fortnight.

Shorts, it was observed, exercised greater caution, running to cover at the first signs of organized support in the more stable issues. This was especially the case in the active final hour, when many losses were cancelled and a number of substantial net gains made.

Obstacles to general improvement in the early and intermediate periods of the session were presented by Atlantic Gulf, General Asphalt. United Fruit, Crucible Steel and several other shares of less definite character, these showing extreme recessions of 2 to 5 points.

The rebound in the later dealings was led by United States Steel, Southern Facific and some other issues of intrinsic worth. Affiliated stocks quickly reversed their course, together with a number of specialties, the movement being accompanied by the largest turn over of the day. Sales amounted to 600,000 shares.

Chicago, March 15.—Estimates that export business totaling 5,000,000, bushels had been done in the last 48 hours gave considerable strength to the wheat market today. The close was unsettled at 1.4 to 21-2c net higher, with March $1.551-2 to $1.55 3-4 and May $1.48 3-4 to $1.49. Corn gained 7-8 to 11-8c and oats 3-8 to 5-8c. In provisions the outcome was unchanged to 10c higher. Traders who have been up to recently identified with the selling side of the market were big buyers today and especially so on every down turn. Sentiment in favor of the buil side gathered force chiefly from the unusual amount of export business which had suddenly developed, but a good deal of notice was also taken of renewed misglyings about crop damage from green

Corn and oats borrowed strength from wheat, and were also bullishly affected by a falling off in receipts of corn.

It's the heavier base in Carey Shingles that gives longer wear.

THE base of Carey Asfaltslate Shingles is an extra heavy long-fibred woolfelt, saturated and built up with the most wonderful waterproofing mineral ever known-asphalt.

This felt is especially designed by Carey chemists and averages 10 per cent heavier than the standards set by the fire underwriters.

It absorbs a proportionally larger amount of asphalt and essential waterproofing oils, and carries an extra thick coating of waterproofing tempered asphalt compound.

Embedded into this better foundation is a surface coating of fire-proof crushed slate, which protects your building from roof communicated fire. The attractive Indian Red or cool Sage Green natural slate color will never fade, and the shingles will never need painting.

It is because of the thicker base and larger amounts of expensive waterproofing materials, in proportion to cheaper surfacing, that Carey Asfaltslate Shingles wear very much longer than topheavy shingles of similar appearance.

AMERICAN EXCHANGE.

New York, March 15 .- Better Liverpool cables, more encouraging re-ports from London and the apparent absence of any hedge-selling, were eflected in the steadler ruling of today's cotton market. May deliv. sold up to 11.78, or 37 points net higher, and closed at 11.84, with the general market closing firm at a net advance of 24 to 38 points. The market opened steady at a poline of 3 points on March, which was influenced by notices representing about 1,100 bales, but generally 8 to 16 points higher, in response to steady cables and Liverpool buying. March soon rallied and the general market showed firmness on covering by straddle shorts against sales in Liverpool, and a scattering demand, which was supposed to include investment buying, as well as local and Wall street covering. The market appeared to e favorably influenced by the cenbe favorably influenced by the census report showing domestic consumption of 395,563 bales for Februrary, an increase of about 30,000 bales, as compared with January. There was also buying on a report from London that the British government might soon sign a trade agreement with Russia, and there was some comment on other London cable advices reporting increased, cheerfulness over the money market outlook. After the close of Liverpool demand slackened, but prices were well sustained, and there was ket outlook. After the close of Liverpool demand slackened, but prices were well sustained, and there was a renewal of the Liverpool buying in the late trading, which sent March up to 11.34 and July to 12.35, or about 30 to 38 points net higher on the general list. Advices reaching the trade today stated that the final government estimate of the East Indies crop was 3.556,000 bales of 400 pounds, compared with the December estimate of 3.621,000, and last year's crop of 5.845,000 bales. Rombay advices also read optimistically with reference to reviving consumption in Japan, and a probability that it would exceed expectations, owing to the fact that lower accounts were being spun. NEW YORK SPOTS. RUSSIAN PEACE RUMOR HELPS COTTON MARKET

New Orleans. March 15.—The trend was higher in the cotton market today, more resistance was shown to selling pressure and sentiment appeared to be more kindly disposed toward the staple among the rank and file of ring and room traders and it was their demand that furnished most of the support. Although rather large American consumption during February than experted, 395,503 bales against 366.—270 in January was responsible for most, of the buying, the highest leads of the day were reached in the late trading following the rumor that Russia and Poland had concluded peace. Here the active months were 33 to 37 points higher than the final prices of yesterday, with May at 11.46. Closing quotations were at net gains on the sestions were at net gains on the sestions. were at net gains on the ses-of 31 to 35 points, May windier of 31 to 35 points, May winding up at 11.45.

In the early trading the effect of the consumption figures was inversed by a better Liverpool market than due and private Enrilsh rablegrams telling of a better feeling there and expressing the opinion that the lowest levels of the eason had already been touched. More or less steadiness was derived from the rains in the western belt and the forecast of unsettled to showery weather for large areas of the belt, traders figuring that the wet weather would delay planting and preparations to plant.

PROFESSIONAL VIEWS ON COTTON SITUATION

New Orleans, March 15—(Special)—Advent of spring is attended by a more hopeful view of general world conditions, especially regarding cotton situation, in which there are many departments.

This is the time of the year when the sap is rising, when nature blossoms in all its glory, reminding men that the future is full of promise.

Gradually the clouds of war in Europe are disappearing, and the emblem of peace are disappearing, and the emblem of peace is seen on the horizon. The political situ-ation in the Near East is said to have improved, and press advices are to the effect that England is to sign a trade agreement with Russia tomorrow.

Having taken stock as to its future needs, the south finds itself with an abundance of old core cotton on head and hear wind of old crop cotton on hand, and has arrived at the conclusion that it will be to its in-terest, and to the betterment of the country in general, to plant for, a much smaller cotton crop this year and to grow more of foodstuffs for home consumption and for foodstuffs for home consumption and for export.

Accordingly, old crop cotton is being held for a higher price, and the contemplated drastic reduction in the acreage is for the purpose of making higher prices possible eventually.

It would be the part of folly for the south to follow any other policy except the one it has adopted, since raw cotton is selling below the cost of production already, as a full crop this year would undoubtedly bring ruin to the southern planter.

This development, now in its primary stage, has yet to have its influence on the price of the staple, but will gradually assert its significance of the situation prospectively.

sert its significance of the situation prospectively.

Meanwhile Liverpool appears to be in a more cheerful mood, evidently because of England's disposition to enter a trade agreement with Russia on the assurance that Russia will cease its propaganda in the British dominions, in India and Fgypt, which, while favorable for British interests, permits the possiplity of greater activity of the bolshevik, particularly against Poland. However, Poland held her own last year, and will likely do so again this year if the contemplated drive by the Reds materializes.

H. & B. BEER.

New York, March 15.—(Special.)—Liver-pool was again better than due this mornpool was again better than due this morning, reflecting the better feeling over the developments of the Russian situation, where it is reported that some agreement will be reached shortly between the soviet government and Great Britain. Sentiment is again becoming more hopeful as to the future, principally because all the unfavorable news which has appeared during the past week has had so little effect on the market, indicating a sold-out market.

HUBBARD BROS. & CO.

New York, March 15.—(Special.)—The strength in cotton is receiving its main spring largely from English quarters. London advices predict a revival in trade and improvement all round. Furthermore, it is believed that Great Britain will sign an agreement with Russia which should open considerable trade activity. Our private cable from Liverpool states leading bears are selling in vain, and that the feeling in favor of cotton is increasing. The figures—on domestic consumption of 395,563 bales compare with 294,000 in December and bales compare with 294,000 in December and 399,000 in October. The figures indicate an American consumption of around o above five million bales for the year. While and it can also lead the advance.

Big Program of Naval Aviation Building Expected Shortly in Land of Nippon.

Washington, March 15 .- Embarka ion by Japan on an elaborate propected in the opinion of officials here by the recent activity of the Japanese government in the purin the endeavor to enlist the expert advice of British naval fliers. Until quite recently naval statis tles show, Japan had made little or no provision for naval aviation. but advices received today in officail circles declare there has been unusual activity in that branch of national defense on the part of the Japanese government.

Disappointed at the failure of the British naval air mission to send o Japan this year at the request of the Japanese government thirty struction in naval flying, the Japanese government has obtained instead a private mission of twenty ex-naval flying officers and men from the Vickers' company in Great Britain, according to the reports. These experts, the advices declare, These experts, the advices declare, are to be used in instructing the new Japanese naval air service in the use of airplanes aboard war vessels and in the manufacture of airplanes and motors. The party, which is expected to arrive in Japan next month, is taking with them for instruction purposes several of the latest model Short and Vickers airplanes.

The Japanese government, according to the same reports, has ordered recently from France airplane equipment as follows: Three six-passenger Spad type, 50 Breguet type, equipped for day bombardment; 10 Nieuport type, double command, and 20 of similar type with single command.

In addition the Japanese government has begun the building of an aircraft carrier as an adjunct to the battle fleet, capable of carrying 30 or 40 planes.

United News Staff Correspondent.
Washington, March 15.—The saddest day of all the sad new year—the day when one pays one's income tax—came to an end with your Uncle Sam Jingling in his Jeans something like a half billion dollars that was yours yesterday. Secretary of the Treasury Mellon estimates the initial collection this year roughly at that amount, though some of the experts in the revenue bureau believe it may reach a figure $100,000,000 larger. This would still be $200,000,000 under the first payment total of last year. The business depression has made that difference, it is thought.

The money will not long remain in the government's possession, since $500,000,000 is now required to retire short time borrowings obtained by the government on certificates of indebtedness.

Secretary Mellon was unwilling today to predict an easier day for taxpayers a year from now, saying predictions always are dangerous. He has ideas concerning possible changes in the tax law, but is offering them to the committees in congress simply as those of one man, who has had experience in business affairs, as well as a financier now in position to study all the information on the subpect that the government is able to collect. He believes, However, that the country is working out of its depression and that a better day is coming. FINKLESTEIN IS FREED FOR LACK OF EVIDENCE Finklestein, of 86 Courtland

GOMPERS ATTACKS

ARMOUR.

ARMOUR.

Washington, March 15.—Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared in a statement today that the proposal of Armour and company and Swift and company to put into effect in their plants a plan of "industrial democracy" was a part of the "anti-union campaign."

"What the packers seek," said Mr. Gompers, "is the destruction of the trade unions which have given the employees real representation and which have gained for them a measure of real freedom, and the substitution of something that will destroy this representation and give to the packers unabridge autocracy and power.

"The nackers now have initiated."

or the packers unabringe cuttorial, and power.

"The packers now have initiated, or have followed into, the anti-union campaign and announce first a reduction in wages of workers, and then propose to introduce a scheme of so-called 'industrial democracy' in their plants. It is seriously doubted that they can succeed in putting that into operation, for the workers would enjoy about as much of 'industrial democracy' as the cattle and sheep, once within the packers' plants." him late today that he would be unable to be present, but would be

Branch of American Society for Relief of Ire-ciety for Relief of Ireland Hurls Defi at Mayor or on Permit Position.

Claiming that Mayor James L. Key had expressed himself as not being willing to issue a permit for the solicitation of funds on the streets of the city in the forthcoming drive to raise Atlanta's quota of $7,500, for the relief of sufferers in Ireland, the Atlanta branch of the American Society for the relief in Ireland, at a meeting in the Kimball house auditorium Tuesday night, the which organization of the Campaign was perfected, severely criticised the mayor and passed resolutions declaring that the drive would be carried on with or without a permit from authorities.

Judge W. A. Brown, who was made general chairman of the drive, stated the Mayor Key had taken the research of the streets of the sing unwill the selection of the drive, stated the Mayor Key had taken the research of the solicitation of the drive, stated the Mayor Key had taken the research of the solicitation of the drive, stated the Mayor Key had taken the research of the solicitation of the drive, stated the Mayor Key had taken the research of the solicitation of the drive, stated the Mayor Key had made general chairman of the drive, stated tht Mayor Key had drive, stated the Mayor Key had taken the position of being unwilling to approve of the drive unless of the approve of the approve of the drive unless of the approve of th officials of the campaign made it clear to the city authorities that the present campaign for funds was strictly a humanitarian campaign for the benefit of suffering women and children of Ireland and was not dentified with the present political situation of the British and Irish people. Mayor Key was quoted as saying that unless the drive was made clear to officials as being a humanitarian movement only, he would veto the issuance of any permit granted by council.

Motion Adopted.

Following the remarks of Judge Brown, a motion was proposed and carried, authorizing the appointment of a committee of three, for the purpose of obtaining a copy of the city ordinance regarding the issuance of permits for drives for raising funds in the city, and that an attempt be made to have a permit granted, but that should it be refused, but that should it be refused the campaign committees be authorized to carry on the drive anyway. The committee appointed included Judge W. A. Brown, Mrs. Mary L. Melendon and Miss Stella Lynch.

Organization of the drive consisted of the appointment of a general chairman. Judge Brown was elected to this office, with Mrs.

Meeting Largely Attended.

The meeting, which was attended by a large and enthusiastic audience, marks the beginning of the three weeks' campaign being conducted all over the United States for the purpose of raising $10,000,000 for the benefit of the estimated two hundred and fifty thousand suffering women and children of Ireland. It was brought out at the meeting that the drive was strictly a humanitarian movement and was not connected with any political or religious disturbance in England.
